

TruCode and CPSI Announce Partnership

TruCode and CPSI Partnership Will Improve Workflow and Coding Accuracy

ALPHARETTA, GA. (April 11, 2017) – TruCode, an innovator in the medical coding software market, today announced its partnership with CPSI (NASDAQ: CPSI). CPSI, including its family of companies, is a leading provider of healthcare solutions for community hospitals and post-acute care facilities nationwide. Through this partnership, the TruCode Encoder will work seamlessly with both the Evident and Healthland electronic health record (EHR) offerings to streamline coder workflow, boost productivity, and improve coding accuracy.

“TruCode is unique in that we have a singular focus on coding, and our TruCode Encoder is key to improving our customers’ revenue cycle,” said Mike Mulligan, managing partner of TruCode. “This partnership will help CPSI customers boost coding precision and productivity, and we can’t wait to see the efficiencies this collaboration yields.”

TruCode’s knowledge-based approach to coding is based on its renowned Intelligent Research Pane, which acts as a digital assistant to provide critical coding references and guidance right at coders’ fingertips. Coders will be automatically presented with pertinent coding information when and where they need it, in a single screen. The result is improved coding accuracy and fewer denied claims.

“Our commitment to rural and community healthcare, combined with TruCode’s coding expertise, allows us to continue to deliver market-leading healthcare information technology solutions to the customers and communities we serve,” said Boyd Douglas, president and chief executive officer of CPSI. “We are excited about all that this partnership offers in terms of delivering ongoing workflow improvements to our customers.”
